CORONAVIRUS RESPONSE (PUBLIC HEALTH)

Doctors now recommend that all Americans wear a facemask when interacting in public.

In order to use our finite testing resources most effectively, the following is the method of identifying and testing potential COVID-19 afflicted:

- Contact your primary physician or nearest urgent care center if you think you are exhibiting symptoms. CALL THEM first and DO NOT drive to their location. You no longer need a doctor's order to get tested. Anyone with symptoms can get tested at a regional testing facility.
- 2) Your medical provider will call a 24/7 hotline to seek approval to have you tested.
- 3) If you are approved, you will be directed to one of many drive-thru testing sites being set up around the state. If you are not approved, you may still go through a private lab to arrange for your own testing.
- 4) Results of the test are generally expected in 5-7 days. The state is ramping up its own in-house testing procedures to create a faster turnaround time.

Symptoms of COVID-19: Fever, Cough, Shortness of Breath

The best way to prevent illness is to avoid being exposed to the virus which is spread from person-toperson contact. Wash your hands often for at least 20 seconds and avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth. Clean and disinfect frequently touched surfaces daily. Stay home if you are not feeling well.

FEMA has shipped 10,571 ventilators from the Strategic National Stockpile and the Department of Defense to the states as of April 6th. Michigan has received 700 ventilators, the third largest amount only behind New Jersey (1,558) and New York (4,440).

The CDC is preparing to deploy a Federal Medical Station to Michigan that can treat up to 250 people.

Forty-two states and four territories have issued stay-at-home orders affecting more than 300 million Americans.

President Trump issued the Opening Up America Again testing blueprint to guide states' plans.

All coronavirus testing for the public will be fully covered by private insurance or the federal government.

Do to the shortage of PPE, FEMA and the CDC are urging Americans in all industries to reduce, reuse and repurpose PPE to extend the supply. You can find more information here.

REDUCE – Use delivery services, electronic communication and considering extending the use of nonvisibly soiled PPE beyond single point of contact use.

CORONAVIRUS RESPONSE (HELP FOR DISPLACED WORKERS)

Here is the link to the online application: www.michigan.gov/UIA or you can call (865) 500-0017.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, Governor Whitmer has expanded the eligibility to:

- Workers who are sick, quarantined or immunocompromised and who do not have access to paid family and medical leave or are laid off.
- Workers caring for children out of school or ill family members and do not have access to paid family and medical leave or are laid off.
- First responders who become sick or are quarantined due to exposure to COVID-19 and do not have paid family and medical leave or are laid off.

Self-employed and contracted employees are still not eligible for Michigan Unemployment Assistance, but the federal stimulus package has expanded eligibility to this group of displaced workers through a Pandemic Unemployment Assistance Fund. The Michigan Unemployment Insurance Agency is now ready for applications of 1099 contractors and self-employed to seek unemployment assistance.

Apparently, Michigan is the first state in the nation to receive pandemic unemployment checks.

Call centers have expanded to be open from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday and on Saturday from 7:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

SCHOOL STATUS

Governor Whitmer has closed schools for the remainder of the school year. Districts will develop plans to ensure their students continue to learn and implement them no later than April 28th.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

The state could be down billions of dollars in tax revenue for the current fiscal year (ending September 30th) and next year's budget due to the slowdown in the state and national economy.

More than 6.5 million Americans applied for unemployment benefits each week for two weeks due to the stay-at-home orders and non-essential business shutdowns issued across the country. That is nearly 10 times the previous record week for a surge in applications that was set in 1982. In just one month's time, more than 20 million Americans have filed for unemployment benefits, this has nearly wiped out all the jog gains since the Great Recession of 2008-09. It is hoped that these losses are only temporary, and that Americans will be returned to work once this crisis has passed.

nemployment Insurance

More than 1 million Michiganders have filed for unemployment since the business shutdown orders began. Economists speculate that the Michigan Unemployment Trust Fund could be drained in as little as two months due to the surge in filings. The state would have to borrow to continue making payments and eventually might have to raise business taxes to replenish the fund. This is even more troubling considering that Michigan had the 3rd highest unemployment reserve in the nation – about $4.6 billion in the unemployment fund at the end of last year.

Wall Street analysts predict that this pandemic could destroy $5 trillion in global economic growth over the next two years which would be like losing the entire Japanese economy to put that into perspective.
